“pfizer’s aggressive attitude to increase sales and market share resulted in unprecedented profits at the expense of the entire health care system.”

The long braid is a symbol of virility in men, and cutting it was a form of punishment in the past.

This is nothing short of total slothfulness.

The optimism is a contrast to the last time the conference came to the United States — in San Francisco in 1990; when AIDS brought near-certain death.